Duestion of Justice Wright Acting in Legal or Business Capacity Is Point.

ony before the committee in ght today centered around the quesof whether Justice Wright acted legal or business capacity for the ted States Savings Bank in advisclients were not legal.

torney Joseph L. Tepper and Attor-Mark A. Stearman told the committhat their clients claimed damages attorneys said were interpreted by m to be of a business character. At time, the Justice was vice-president the institution Mr. Tepper said he realized his claim as predicated on an error of the ank clerk, and the clerk would be spected to make it good. Mr. Stearan said his client was subsequently commodated by the bank and deined to bring suit, Attorney J. H. Bilbrey complained the committee that Justice Wright minated some exceptions from a il of exceptions in a case, "by reaon of which his case was weakened the Court of Appeals."

Bank Cashier Called.

At the outset of the hearing, Wilbur Zepp. cashier of the United States vings Bank, advised the committee on e state of funds in the bank on Feb-ary 8. 1916, the date on which Attorey William E. Ambrose, as collector of e estate of Lawrence Morisey, withnew $25,500 from the account. Mr. Zepp aid he had no personal knowledge of he check presented by Mr. Ambrose, at that the character of the funds the flowing day indicated that the check as honored by some $13,000 in cash and check on the United States Trust ompany for $10,000. Previously in the earing, testimony had been adduced to indicate that Ambrose cashed the check in the estate without the check bearing the counter-signature of Mr. Sworm-tedt, who acted jointly with Ambrose collector.

Details of the failure of the United States Savings Bank to honor two heeks of natrons, when sufficient funds ere credited to their accounts to meet been, was then given the committee in the examination of Attorneys Joseph Tepper and Mark A. Stearman, Both attorneys told the committee they were sold by Justice Wright, then vice presiold by Justice Wright, then vice presiient of the bank, that the claims of their clients were not valid. Neither wit-ness could state positively that he look-ed upon Justice Wright as acting in a egal capacity.

Met Wright In Park.

Mr. Tepper told the committee that he represented a client who claimed there were sufficient funds to meet it. He said he wrote the bank in behalf of his client on November 7, 1911, and on November 14 following he received "Between those two dates," Mr. Tepper said, Justice Wright met me in the park near the City Hall and told me that my client's claim was not a alld one and should not be pressed He did not tell me in what capacity he spoke. I told Justice Wright that I withdraw the claim."

Answering Congressman Nelson, Mr. Tepper said that he did not know at the time in what capacity Justice Wright spoke for the bank. "I was surprised that he spoke to me about it." said Mr. Tepper. "He made no explanation whether he represented the bank in a legal capacity or otherwise."

"Did not Justice Wright tell you that the bank would communicate with you about he matter? asked Attorney Darlington.

"Did you figure Justice Wright was acting in a business capacity or a le-gal capacity" "In a business capacity for the bank."

"Did it involve a legal matter?"
"The validity of the claim involved a logal matter."

Result Would Try Same.

The witness said in discussing the matter with his client, he did not mention that Justice Wright acted for the bank. He added that the same result would have ensued had he took the matter up with any other officer or the attorney of the bank, inasmuch as his client by reason of the accommedation by the bank discounting in a paper, by the bank discounting in a paper, elected not to press his claim.

When questioned by Attorney Darlington, Mr. Stearman maintained that the final determination of the claim would have been the same had he seen any other officer of the bank.

"I advised my client that the bank refused to honor his claim," said Mr.

HERE'S NEW FAD, DOGS FOR CHAPERONS

OUNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD .-Since Mrs. W. K. Vandebrilt, jr., imported a Belgian sheepdog and announced that she was to train him as a walking chaperon, there has been great rivalry among society women of New York and Chicago in following this fad. Many New York women followed Mrs. Vanderbilt and now one only has to take a peep at Fifth avenue to see many matrons and young women with their handsome police dogs tugging at a leash. But Miss Chicago was not to follow the larger city. She wanted to be original, hence the controversy between Mrs. Frank Torole, with her newly acquired Alsatian spitz "Caesar," which she maintains, has a much keener sensibility as to just the proper manner in which his mistress should be chaperoned and Miss Richard Ware, who is shown on the right of the picture with her Belgian police dog "Prinz." Miss Ware is confident she has not made a mistake in her choice, and so the rivalry goes on. The Alsatian is a new species and will be watched with much interest.

Stearman, "and I told him he had good grounds for a suit. He took the mat-ter under advisement and later refused to sue because he had been accommodated by the bank."
"Did it occur to you as significant that you were referred to Justice Wright by the bank?" asked Congress-

Wright by the bank?" asked Congressman Peterson.
"No, as I was referred to Justice Wright as an officer of the bank."
Chairman McCoy then read into the record the by-laws of the bank, which defined the duties of the Vice President, a post Justice Wright then occupied in the bank. The by-laws showed the duties of the president were to be assumed by the vice president when the former was absent.

Insane Patient Killed By Kick in Abdomen

Kicked in the abdomen by a fellowpatient at the Government Hospital for the Insane last Monday, Lewis Wolf, forty-five years old, died today. Coroper Nevitt said he would probably hold an inquest over the body at the morgue

Wolf was in the same ward with William Royland, who is said to have becondition was such that it was neces-sary to operate on him the following day. Royland, according to officials at the asylum, is subject to violent at-tacks. Wolf was a native of Ohio and, had been in the asylum three years. Royland was sent to the asylum thir-teen years ago from the District.

A declaration that "men who are defying the laws of the United States" should not be permitted to exercise in any degree the powers of the Federal Reserve Board is one of the concluding reasons given in the majority report of the Senate Banking Committee, recommending that Thomas D. Jones be not appointed a member of the board.

The report reviews Jones' activities as a director of the Harvester trust, charges him with being a party to many of the alleged lilegalities entered into by that organization, and avers that the man whom President Wilson has conceived being made to free the business, monopoly of the Harvester trust, charges have a member of the Federal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the Harvester trust, charges him with being a party to many of the alleged lilegalities entered into by that organization, and avers that the man whom President Wilson have a member of the Federal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the Harvester trust, charges have the man whom President Wilson have a member of the Federal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the Harvester trust, charges him with being a party to many of the alleged lilegalities entered into by that organization, and avers that the man whom President Wilson have a member of the Federal Federal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the Harvester trust, charges him with being and avers that the man whom President Wilson have a member of the Federal Federal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the lilegal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the lilegal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the lilegal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the lilegal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the lilegal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the lilegal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the lilegal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the lilegal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the lilegal Reserve Board entered into a monopoly of the lilegal Reserve Board entered into a monopol who after sentencing him to a year and a day in the penitentiary on a charge of grand larceny, suspended sentence and placed him on probation. Adams acknowledged him on probation. Adams acknowledged his guilt, which he attributed to drink.

He said that he came to this country from London and that it was upon the recommendation of the Peruvian minister, by whom he had been previously employed, that he obtained employment with the commandant of the Marine Corps. It was while so employed that he took a quantity of jewelry, he said, and decamped to New York. There he realized what he had done and returned the gems to the owners. It was through this voluntary act on his part that he was apprehended.
